Summary

I'm a back-end web developer student at my last year in university, with little experience in developing and implementing APIs for web applications using ASP.NET CORE WEB API, seeking for much more experience by working on real big projects as a back-end developer.

Education

Since September 2019 • Faculty Of Electronic Engineering
Computer Science Department Minūf, MF, Egypt

Experience

Worked on two small projects by my own, one for small company management system by implementing API for CRUD operation methods for retrieving, adding, editing, and deleting information about that company's departments and employees, using ASP.NET core, Entity Framework, and SQL Server and JWT for authorization and authentication. The other one was with the same idea for a library system.
